I've been creating and exhibiting art actively for 22 years. I received a formal arts education at PLU and further developed my education in painting at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts studying under artists Al Gury, David McShane, Mark Blavat and Emily Brown.

www.saschina.org

Supervisor Kate McKenna katecmck@hotmail.com

Designed and taught curriculum for two newly created high school level digital media courses that included graphic design, illustration, photography, and filmmaking. Design course projects were required to be transferable to work in coordination with the innovative Maker's Space area where students created three dimensional representations of their designs.

Art Teacher

Seattle Public Schools 2001-2016

Supervisor: Dr. Mia Williams mparker@seattleschools.org

Visual arts and digital media teacher providing art classes (drawing, painting, printmaking, and ceramics), cartooning and animation, photography (yearbook), and filmmaking (Adobe AYP). Designed and managed individual student learning plans for a caseload of 150 middle school students aged 10-14 spanning grades 6-8. I designed, created, and managed the school website, created school fliers, postcards, brochures, and forms, managed the student store and provided a Leadership/ASB component through the Yearbook class. Formed strong partnerships with City Year, ArtsCorps, Adobe, and SOS Outreach, who all provided opportunities that students would not otherwise have experienced.

Mentored students ages 9-14 in this innovative summer program that existed in the realm between summer camp and advanced placement program. Students grades 4-12 lived on campus for three weeks, interacting with other students, counselors, and teachers in an exciting and challenging environment. During the 2001 program I provided instruction in French and Philosophy and in 2002 taught art classes in painting, printmaking, and ceramics.

Instructor, Digital Imaging on Tile: Public Mural Project

Pilot program for Tacoma School of the Arts, Tacoma, WA.
sota.tacomaschools.org
Supervisor: Jon Ketler jketler@tacoma.k12.wa.us

Worked collaboratively with students to design and create a public mural project. The project involved several stages and various techniques to transfer digital images to ceramic tiles that would eventually be pieced together to form three identical, yet separate murals. The murals have been installed in Tacoma at 10th and Broadway, between Broadway and "Court C."
